Biggest Turnout in Club's History— 30 New Members This Year— Legislation For and Against Antitoxins Cited in Secretary's Report.

At the annual meeting of the Automobile Club of Ulster County, held Monday evening, at the court house, annual reports of the officers of the club were received, officers were elected and matters of importance to automobile owners and drivers discussed. Forty-eight members of the club were present, the biggest turnout of members at an annual meeting since the club was organized.

The following officers were re-elected for the year: President, William R. Harrison; vice president, Charles R. O'Connor; secretary, Dr. H. F. Meinhardt; treasurer, Ward B. Everett; board of directors, A. E. Winne and Harry S. Linsign.

The report of the president, William R. Harrison, was received and read.

Secretary Meinhardt's annual report for 1920 showed a gain of 30 members since the last annual meeting. The club now has a membership of 492. His report follows:

To the President and Members of the Automobile Club of Ulster County:

I beg to submit for your consideration what has been and what we have to accomplish. First, the membership of the club at the last annual meeting was 372 members in good standing. The total membership paid to date 492.

The club has looked carefully after the signs needed, throughout the county, keeping up our reputation for one of the best signed counties in the state. The club with the other affiliated clubs in the State Association—during the session of the Legislature succeeded in killing many vicious bills. Through the efforts of this club the Rondout Bridge is assured and will undoubtedly be completed in 1921. We as a part of the state association have been working for the elimination of toll bridges and this year has seen the last of them by the opening of the bridge at Schenectady.

The club through the proper officers has urged the repairs of bad sections of the highway both in the county and city, and we wish to thank the state county and city officials for giving our complaints such generous consideration.

There are a few things I wish to bring before this meeting which are very important.

First, the licensing of all operators. I believe this has not been generally understood, thereby causing the opposition to it.

The bill will not advocate that operators be required to stand a technical examination, but that they be required to know the rules of the road and something of the general condition, and be in good physical condition. New operators will be required to take an examination to show their fitness to drive. The fee has been suggested by only large enough to cover the expenses, license to be good until revoked for cause. This has been a successful operation in other states and they think it is the proper thing.

Secondly, the headlight law is being violated, the state association favors the introduction of a bill to amend the motor vehicle law so that there can be no misunderstanding the car to be equipped with head light devices before a license is granted.

The Association is in favor of an amendment to the Motor Vehicle Law, providing for the creation of a separate department to administer its provisions.

The association is opposed to the proposed use of transient license until such time as they shall be furnished by the state.

The association favors using its own funds toward meeting the emergency appropriations and requests to keep the main trunk highways open through the winter months.

A very important resolution passed in the State Association, that the executive committee be directed to oppose any bill which would require a bond of indemnity to be given by a person who is to be licensed to drive a motor vehicle.

There have been persistent efforts made to make the license law more stringent, but the association is opposed to any such change.

The association is opposed to any change in the license law which would require a bond of indemnity to be given by a person who is to be licensed to drive a motor vehicle.

ASSAILANTS OF GAROFF CAUGHT

Banker Identifies Four Locked Up in Goshen Jail as Ones Who Robbed and Stabbed Him.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Hackensack, N. J., Dec. 14.—Four men were locked up in the jail of Goshen, N. Y., today charged with highway robbery and assault, as a result of a sensational auto chase which culminated in their capture by "a millionaire chief of police." The quartet—all youths under 22—is believed by the police of a dozen places, in and near Bergen county, to be members of a band of bandits which have terrorized this region for two weeks with robberies amounting to thousands of dollars in cash and valuables, many preceded by gunplay holdups.

Frank Garoff, an inn proprietor of Newburgh, N. Y., identified the men as those who robbed his place of $4,000 in cash and $20,000 worth of Liberty bonds. He is at a hospital in a critical condition, stabbed over the heart by one of the bandits.

"Millionaire Chief" Gilmore Bush, of the Tuxedo Park, N. Y., police with four of his patrolmen, chased the highwaymen last night and finally captured them, setting the "drop" on them with his riot gun before they could use their sword-pistols.

Newburgh, Dec. 14.—Four men entered the Glenwood Inn on the outskirts of Newburgh, Monday, covered Frank Garoff, also known as "Danny Shields," the proprietor, with revolvers, plundered the hotel of cash and valuables worth $20,000, stabbed Garoff with a knife and then made their escape in their victim's new automobile. The booty included $4,000 in cash, $7,000 in Liberty bonds and a 10-carat diamond ring. Garoff resisted and was seriously stabbed in the abdomen. The thieves had come to Newburgh in a car which they abandoned south of the city. Before entering the inn they cut the telephone wires. An employee entering the place found Garoff unconscious. Later word was received from Tuxedo that four men, believed to be the robbers, had been captured.

Federated P. T. A.

The regular monthly meeting of the Federated Council of Parent-Teachers' Association will be held at the high school tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

I beg to submit the following data covering traffic census taken on August 21-22, 1920, covering a 12-hour day-light period. This is of pleasure cars only and shows to you the great amount of traffic passing through Kingston—which is bound to be one of the greatest automobile centers for tourists in the state.

Cars bearing New York state license, 6,175; cars of other states, 82; total, 7,055.

Just one other important question we wish to call to your attention—regulation and education of pedestrians. Statistics show that the vast majority of so-called motor accidents occur when the motor vehicles involved were traveling at a rate of speed of 15 miles per hour or less.

Francis M. Hugo, the secretary of state, stated that their records show that the 90 per cent of the so-called motor accidents in the Empire State in which pedestrians were injured, were due to reckless walking. Eliminate the reckless and incompetent driver and we the reckless pedestrian, is reckless walking!

If your answer is the affirmative, you have declared suicide is right. The pedestrians must simply be protected from their own folly. Municipalities in many cases have passed ordinances prohibiting the crossing of streets only on the crossing at street intersections.

Last to call to your attention, Our Club, we want you to make suggestions to the officers how to make the Automobile Club of Ulster County a larger and better club. In our campaign the past year, we appointed several district deputies to help the officers, the coming year we will appoint more, as there can be no permanent good fortune unless shared by all the people. This club has no section, but is equally interested in all in Marlborough, Milton, Highland, Wallkill, Gardiner, New Paltz, Esopus, Ulster Park, Port Jervis, in Glens, Saugerties, Maiden, Woodstock, Rosetonville, Shade, Willow Lake Hill, up in West Hurley, Shokan, Ashokan, Mt. Pleasant, Phoenicia, Chateaufort, Shandaken and Pine Hill, out in Hurley, Stone Ridge, Accord, Nanuet, Wawarsing, Ellenville, High Falls and Rosendale. In all sections of the county we are anxious to help you. Being to the club, get a new member, we will prove to them the club is well stated for service. The results have achieved demonstrate that we can do. No more responsible class of men acting in any capacity can be found than those connected with the N. Y. State Automobile Association. In every emergency when the automobile has been threatened with injury, they have been foremost in fighting for their preservation, undauntedly giving their time. This is a common enterprise and should be supported by all. We are threatened by anarchy, every year and with subject law, they are here year help for the coming year?

KNAPP DEFENDS "DEVIL DOGS"

Says That While Mistakes Have Been Made, Majority of Haitians Are Glad Marines Are There And Quiet Has Been Secured—Says They Should Remain.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Charges that American marines in Haiti have been guilty of indiscriminate killing of men, women and children are absolutely unfounded, according to the report of Rear Admiral Harry S. Knapp to Secretary of the Navy Daniels today. Though admitting that the marines may have made mistakes, Admiral Knapp warmly defended their administration of justice and said that but for a negligible percentage of malcontents the population of Haiti welcomes their presence in the island.

Admiral Knapp believes the Haitians would rapidly sink back into anarchy and banditry if the United States forces were withdrawn. At least a generation will pass before Haiti can produce "sufficient" men of high enough standards to provide for an honest administration and background of honest population for its support," Admiral Knapp said.

It is possible that 3,000 Haitians have been killed since American occupation in 1915, the Admiral stated, but he denied emphatically that women and children had been killed by Americans and insisted that those shot were bandits.

Intermittent fighting with these lawless hands culminated some months ago and now good order prevails practically throughout the island.

Charges that strangulation and flogging were resorted to are absolutely denied.

The Admiral admitted that the "Corvee" system of enforced labor on roads had been employed and pointed out that such measures were not only legal in Haiti, but that similar laws exist, or have existed, in the United States.

Speaking of accusations that murders and tortures had been committed, the Admiral said there were unquestionable cases of abuse of power on the part of general officers of the gendarmerie and enlisted men.

When such cases become known, he said, the offenders were punished.

Mrs. Payntar Takes Stand.

Mrs. Payntar was the only witness in her own behalf. She testified that in the spring of 1919 Mr. Rider made her an offer. She had been holding the property for $17,000 and told him so. He offered $14,500. Several times afterward when she was in the store he asked whether she had sold the property and she replied no, she had not got her price of $17,000. Later he offered her $15,500. Later, on August 29, he wrote her offering $16,000. A couple of weeks later she asked him if $16,000 was all he would offer; he said it was all he would give and was all the building was worth, and if she could get more, to go and get it. The Rider letter written early in October had never been seen by her until she saw it in the court room. At the present time, said Mrs. Payntar, she had no desire or intention of selling the property. She remembered seeing Mr. Hopper in the store in the spring, and also the stenographer, but not when she was there in August or September.

To Judge Van Etten's cross-examination, Mrs. Payntar said that when she failed to receive Mr. Rider's check for the September rent, she inquired at the Poughkeepsie post office and was told that the letter had been delivered to a woman living on Mansion street, who had returned it to the post office, where it had been forwarded to Chatham. She did not recall all of the details of the conversation in Mr. Rider's office when Amos Van Etten was present, but she did recall being told that the tender of the purchase price would be made to her.

She first saw Charles A. Winter in his store and stated her price. She saw him two weeks later. No papers were drawn at either time. She was not present when the money was paid, but Mr. Stone represented her at that time. Afterward she was in Mr. Rider's store but did not tell him she had sold the property or what another purchaser would pay. The only time Mr. Rider offered her $16,000 was by letter; she replied by calling at his store about two weeks later when she told him that she had not sold the property.

She did not tell him about the Winter offer, but did tell him she had been offered more than $16,000. The various letters making demands under the terms of the lease were received after the property had been sold. Since the sale, the rent had been paid regularly each month, as before.

With this testimony the defense rested.

Mr. Rider was recalled by Judge Van Etten and testified that when Mrs. Payntar called in September, 1919, she did not ask him if $16,000 was all he would give, and he did not say $16,000 was all it was worth, and he did not tell her he would not offer her any more than $16,000. She had told him New York parties wanted the property and he asked her if it was a bona fide offer; she said there was something about it she would not consider.

Mr. Rider moved to dismiss the complaint, which was denied.

Judge Nichols said he would hold that the letter of January, 1920, was not a waiver, but Mr. Rider was simply taking advantage of the right of removal under the terms of the lease and he would submit to the jury the question, did the plaintiff waive his rights of action to purchase the leased premises of defendant for any amount above $16,000 and notify defendant that she could sell said premises to any other person or persons for a greater consideration.

The jury came in shortly after 12 o'clock and answered "No."

Mr. Rider presented the case to the jury for Mrs. Payntar and Judge Van Etten for Mr. Rider.

RIDER DID NOT WAIVE OPTION

Finds Jury in Case Involving Building at 304 Wall Street—Rider Says He Is Willing to Pay $16,925.

The case of Weston H. Rider against Nettie M. Payntar was concluded before Judge Nichols and a jury in the supreme court this morning and went to the jury before noon.

When court reconvened this morning, Charles A. Winter was recalled to the stand and produced the bond and mortgage for $3,500 which Mrs. Payntar had given him when the property was transferred back to her. She had paid $175 interest on the mortgage.

Mr. Rider, recalled, testified to a question by Judge Nichols that he was willing to pay Mrs. Payntar $16,925 in cash for the property, this being the amount which E. Winter's Sons had expended in purchase price, brokerage fees and other expenses.

Mr. Brinnier produced a letter written by Mr. Rider on January 13, 1920, which Mr. Rider identified. The letter was to Mrs. Payntar and notified her that he would keep the store for one year from May 1, 1920, as provided for by the lease.

Virgil B. Van Wageningen testified he had drawn the deeds and mortgages in the transactions between Mrs. Payntar and E. Winter's Sons. Prior to this, Mr. Stone called on him, representing Mrs. Payntar. He called to consult him in regard to the Rider lease, but Mr. Van Wageningen was not permitted to testify to details because Judge Nichols held that the communication was privileged.

The plaintiff rested.

The defendants are Ida Lippman,
Eva Prutinsky, Elsie Stein, Mary
Taub, Ida Levine, Hode Gellert and Jennie Worona.

Mrs. Louwisch stayed for several days at the home of Mrs. Schwartz before Dr. Louwisch, who was head of the Hebrew school, had the marriage annulled, charging free love and Bolshevistic beliefs on the bride's part. Because of the annulment, it is alleged, Shewa committed suicide at her uncle's home in Boston.

Mrs. Schwartz is a sister of Mrs.
Friedman, who figured in the Lou-wisch case, and testified for the "rabbi" when he brought suit against his bride. Mrs. Schwartz was a member of the Hebrew Ladies' Aid Socety with the defendants who she now sues. At the mass meeting when the suicide was discussed the former "rabbi" was denounced and in the excitement, it is alleged, Mrs.

Schwartz came in for a severe denunciation at the hands of the women she now sues.

THRIFT

The 7 per cent, 15 year gold debenture bonds that are being offered by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Company present an opportunity to exercise thrift to good advantage even for those who have only a comparatively small amount to invest.

The bonds are in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000 dollars. You can purchase them for cash or by our CUSTOMER OWNERSHIP plan of deferred, small payments; that is, 5 per cent down and 5 per cent a month for 19 months.

For example: $5.00 down and $5.00 a month with your gas and electric bills for 19 months makes you the owner of a hundred dollar bond. This example may be applied to any number of hundreds of dollars up to $5,000.00.

Meanwhile, every dollar of your money earns 7% interest for you from the time it is paid in.

In other words, here is an opportunity to put your spare money to work for you as it comes in. You become an investor in a property that is safe and that you know about.

Let the Kingston Gas & Electric office, 611 Broadway, know that you are interested. A representative will call with complete information.

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 14, 1920.

The ex-Kaiser intends to give each of his numerous children half a million dollars in order that they may live "in a manner befitting Hohenzollerns," and yet it would take only a cell and bread and water to live in a manner befitting the present head of the Hohenzollerns.

The prohibition enforcement officer for New England has decided that "mince pies and plum puddings served on Christmas dinner tables may be seasoned with brandy from the individual supply." Whether such gracious permission will be awaited in other sections of the country may be doubted except in cases where all the "seasoning" has been used up.

Mrs. Livingston of the W. C. T. U. blames not the women wearers but the men designers of "immodest dress." These men, she says, "consciously or unconsciously fashion something representative of the morals and minds of the men attracted by the women who wear them." Why, then, do not the misrepresented women rise up in revolt and take the designing of fashions into their own hands?

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Assemblyman Charles H. Betts of Wayne county will make another effort to have the daylight saving law repealed and there is every reason to anticipate that before the session of the legislature ends it will be repealed and the farmer given the consideration to which he is entitled. The farmers of the state were concerned in this matter, and that there was practically no divided opinion on the subject was proved time and time again, whenever they could voice their views, and they voiced them definitely the first week in November.

The position of Assemblyman Betts is that the farmer should be given first consideration relative to this problem as the farming communities are sections that were definitely and vitally affected by the change. It was never to their liking, and with them it was not a question of recreation but on the contrary it was a more important matter, that of production, in the last analysis equally as important to the whole people. The contention of Assemblyman Betts was, and is, that the farmer knows his business, and that just now when "back to the farm" is being urged and every effort is being made to increase production no obstacle should be placed in the way of the farmer to block his progress.

HER BIG CHANCE.

Even irreconcilable anti-suffragists will have to admit that a career of great usefulness is open to Representative Agnes Robertson. Miss Robertson may not be able to contribute a great deal toward the solution of the pressing political problems of the hour, but the successful manager of a popular cafeteria in Muskogee, Oklahoma, ought to be able to "run" the House restaurant in a manner to assure Congressmen good meals at moderate rates, and if she does this every member of the House will prize her above all their fellows. Her custom speaker Gillett has general charge of the House restaurant, but it is not a job suited to either his taste or his talents and it is natural enough for him to wish to transfer "control" in this connection to the lady from Oklahoma.

An expert is needed, for there are appetites from 48 States to satisfy and usually there is no little grumbling. It seems to be generally believed that Representative Robertson could meet a long felt want, but whether she has as yet been approached or connected is not stated. Some of her suffragist friends may be expected to protest, holding that to put her to woman's work after she had been sent to Washington to do a man's work would be a degradation and an outrage. But Miss Robertson, by all accounts a sensible woman, is probably aware that her election was due rather more to her culinary skill than to her dialectical abilities. She may also recognize that if she should accept and make good, as she no doubt would, all Congress would champion her election for another term. She could not do better than make sure of certain success on the side while her achievements on the floor of the House remain a matter of doubt.

MATTERS BEFORE SURROGATE GILL

The will of the late Louise Ripley of Milton was admitted to probate by Surrogate Gill in the surrogate's court Monday. To her husband, John R. Ripley, the testatrix bequeaths $1,000; to her grand daughters, Louise Ripley and Wilda Young, she bequeaths her diamonds and silverware, share and share alike; to her maid, Ann Gilmartin, she bequeaths $1,200. The balance of the estate is given to Louise Ripley in trust for the benefit of John R. Ripley during his life or until his remarriage. On the termination of the trust, the remainder of the trust estate is to be divided equally between Louise Ripley and Wilda Young, or in the event of either before the trust termination, Louise Ripley is appointed executrix. The will was executed May 31, 1920, and witnessed by Joseph B. Lynch of New York city and Luther P. Caverly of Milton. The value of the real estate is $25,000 and the personal property amounts to $5,000. Joseph B. Lynch appeared for Louise Hanrahan, nee Ripley, the executrix.

The will of Ben. S. Johnson, also sometimes known as Benjamin S. Johnson, of this city, was admitted to probate by Surrogate Gill. The testator gives his estate to his nephew, Jacob Johnson, and appoints him executor. The will was executed November 4, 1920, and witnessed by Eva K. Blodgett and Milton O. Auchmoody. The value of the estate is unknown. Milton O. Auchmoody appeared for the executor. A hearing was had in the estate of Rosina M. Terpening of this city, in which a judicial settlement is being had by the executrices, Mrs. Daniel H. Zoller and Mrs. Rickard. A claim for $200 for nursing was presented by Louise Terpening and was rejected by the executrices. The matter was adjourned until February 14 for trial of the rejected claim. Arthur C. Connelly appeared for the executrices; Judge Joseph M. Fowler appeared for the claimant.

A hearing was had in the estate of Laura P. Vignes of this city, in which the report of appraisal under the taxable transfer act was filed by County Treasurer Lounsbury. The personal property amounts to $3,265; the real estate is valued at $7,500; the debts, commissions, expenses of administration, etc., amount to $676.63, leaving a net estate of $10,088.37, which is exempt from tax. Anna Hoffman Vignes, the executrix, was represented by Isidor Sampson; Andrew J. Cook appeared for the state comptroller.

A hearing was had in the matter of the judicial settlement of the account of DuBois F. Collins as executor of the estate of Carrie Hart Collins of Ellenville. The amount in the hands of the executor is $2,835.41, and a decree passing and approving the account and directing distribution was granted. C. A. Van Wagoner appeared for the executor; H. Westlake Coons appeared for other interested parties.

A hearing was had in the matter of the guardianship of Ralph Theodore Presler and letters of guardianship were issued to Laura M. Mastin. Benjamin F. Cecire appeared for the petitioner.

In the estate of the Hon. George J. Smith of this city, Surrogate Gill appointed Paul Foerster of New York city, appraiser to appraise the bonds of the Acker, Merrill & Condit Company, which are to be divided among the legatees under an agreement which they have made among themselves. The hearing on the judicial settlement of the estate by the executors, the Hon. M. Linn Bruce and John T. Harwood, will come up before Surrogate Gill next Monday.

Effectively September 15, 1920. Prices F. O. B. Syracuse

THE favorable position which the Franklin holds among motor cars is based on a wide appreciation of its value.

Today the motorist is interested as never before in the facts backing his purchase.

As a reflex of the buying spirit of the recent "easy days" comes a full consideration of the fundamentals of value—price and performance. One without the other means nothing.

As far as price is concerned, the Franklin position established September 23, 1920, speaks for itself.

When viewed side by side with Franklin prices, Franklin performance is emphasized more than ever.

Such comparisons invariably show how the characteristic principles of light weight, flexible construction and direct air cooling result in these outstanding Franklin advantages:

Ability to travel the longest distances in a day—

To cover rough roads comfortably and safely, without fear of tire troubles or breakage, without skidding—

To go where others can't, and when they can't, with no fear of overheating in summer, with no need of blankets, anti-freeze mixtures, or draining or refilling in winter—

To start easily or surely, and run steadily, regardless of temperature or altitude—

To avoid annoying delays on the road, and troublesome duties at the end, free from all sense of strain or worry—

All this throughout an unusually long car life, and with economy that is unequalled:

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
50% slower yearly depreciation

WOULD COMPEL HER TO SELL

Weston H. Rider said Mrs. Paynter to secure deed to 304 Wall Street—had option in lease—Place was sold to E. Winter's Sons Who Returned It To Keep Out of Law Suits.

The suit brought by Weston H. Rider against Mrs. Nettie M. Paynter, to compel her to execute a deed of the property at No. 304 Wall Street, this city, to him, was begun before Judge Nichols and a jury in the supreme court Monday afternoon. Van Etten & Cook appeared for Mr. Rider; Brinnier, Canfield & Brinnier appeared for Mrs. Paynter.

The suit is brought under a clause in the lease under which Mr. Rider occupied the building. The lease was executed March 6, 1919, for one year from the first of May following, with privileges of renewal for one year, and the clause referred to states that in case of sale of the property, Mr. Rider shall have first option of purchase, at the same price that any other purchaser would pay. Mr. Rider claims he made a tender of $16,500 for which amount she agreed to sell and did sell the property to E. Winter's Sons, Inc., but Mrs. Paynter claims that he waived his rights above $16,000, which he had stated before the sale to Winter's Sons was the limit he was willing to give.

The building for many years was owned and occupied by the late A. B. Paynter, was later owned by his widow, then by his son, Justice J. Paynter, at whose death the property passed to his widow, who now owns it. Mr. Rider has occupied it for the past thirty-one years.

Mr. Rider testified that after the 1919 lease had been executed, he asked Mrs. Paynter what she would take for the building. She did not give any figure, and finally he offered her $14,000. She said she wanted more money, but did not say how much more. Later he heard that someone had offered her $500 more than he had offered, so he made an offer of $15,000 in May or June. She replied that another party wanted it, and he finally induced her to tell who had made the offer. He learned it was Schultz & Bogart. She told him to believe, he said, they had offered $15,000, and he offered her $16,000. This was during the summer, and he also wrote her about it.

Mrs. Paynter said Mr. Rider told him she could get more money, whereupon he told her he would not raise it again, but when she knew what she wanted for the property, to let him know, and he called attention to the clause in the lease giving him first option to purchase it.

In September, 1919, said Mr. Rider, he saw her again and offered her $16,000. She answered, "Give more." He told her, he said, to let him know when he had made up her mind. She answered that she was going to the seashore and would let him know on her return. He did not see her again until after she had sold it to E. Winter's Sons. Prior to that, whenever he talked about selling it, she would say, "Well, you give more," but she never named a price.

The deed to E. Winter's Sons was dated September 27, 1919. On October 4 he had Amos Van Etten write a letter for him to Mrs. Paynter and also to Winter's Sons.

The deed to E. Winter's Sons was produced by Mr. Brinnier; the consideration stated in the deed was $1, but the deed bore $17 worth of internal revenue stamps. A mortgage given by E. Winter's Sons to Mrs. Paynter was also produced by Mr. Brinnier; it was dated October 2 and was for $13,000. On October 7, E. Winter's Sons deeded the property to Mrs. Paynter, the consideration mentioned being $1 and the deed bearing revenue stamps for $2.50. A satisfaction of the mortgage given by Winter's Sons to Mrs. Paynter was also filed the same day.

In October, said Mr. Rider, he again had a talk with Mrs. Paynter at his store. Amos Van Etten and A. T. Stone, the insurance agent, were also present and Judge John G. V. V. V. was present part of the time.

In this conversation, said Mr. Rider, he told Mrs. Paynter he had sent her a check for the September rent, and also a letter in regard to the store. She said she had not received the letter or check, but that some woman had returned the letter to him at Chatham, and he would probably find it there when he went to Chatham for the week end. Mr. Rider said the letter had been mailed at Rider's Mills, where he has a farm. Rider's Mills is ten miles from Chatham. At the week end he found the letter at Chatham. It was very much mutilated and the envelope was stuck together by stamps.

The letter to Mrs. Paynter had not been put in the post office by him, instead had been put in the box in which the carrier usually puts his mail and from which the carrier usually took any letters for mailing at the post office at Rider's Mills. The letter was returned to him at Rider's Mills and bore the return date, October 14. The mailing on Mr. Rider described was not such a mailing as the law contemplates, said Judge Nichols, who would not receive the letter, check or envelope in evidence, but allowed them to be marked for identification.

When Mrs. Paynter had come to the store in October, said Mr. Rider, she said she had called for the rent check, which he told her had been mailed. When she said he would probably get it at Chatham, he asked whether she had seen the letter. She said she had not, but knew that some woman she did not know had returned it to him at Chatham.

When he asked in the same conversation why she had not told him of the letter, she said she had not told him she had not, and he would not make any statement, or what she received for the property; she claimed she did not think he should R. He said he would give her whatever price she got for it, but she answered she had sold it.

At about this time Judge John G. V. V. V. had come on the case.

once and Mr. Rider said he had told Mrs. Paynter he intended to make her a tender of the money. She said if she could not be found, that Mr. Stone was her authorized agent, that he could offer the money to Mr. Stone.

On October 22, Mr. Rider said he went with Judge Van Etten and $16,500 to Postoffice but could not get any response on rapping at the door of Mrs. Paynter's apartment at 554 Main Street. They returned to Kingston and tendered the money to Mr. Stone, who refused to accept it. The same day he wrote to Mrs. Paynter telling her what he had done and stating he was still willing to pay her $16,500 for the property.

Cross-examined by Mr. Brinnier, Mr. Rider said Judge John G. Van Etten had arranged for the $16,500 and it was not procured through Frank Forman. He thought perhaps Judge Van Etten got some of the money from Mr. Forman. He did not recall having written a letter to Mrs. Paynter stating he would pay $16,000 and no more. Mr. Brinnier produced a letter which Mr. Rider identified as having been written by him on August 29, 1919, stating, "If you will take $16,000, you can close the deal at once. If you want more, you will have to wait." When making the offer of $14,000, he did not recall asking her to take his notes, and never asked her to take his notes for the whole property.

"You have an arrangement, haven't you, with Mr. Forman or Mr. Furmansky, to take the property, if you get it?" asked Mr. Brinnier. "When I heard he was bidding against me, I went to him and asked him why," said Mr. Rider. "He said if I wanted it, he would do all he could to help me get it."

Mr. Rider said his farm at Rider's Mills, Columbia county, contained 300 acres, and that he had had as high as 120 head of cattle there which were either registered or entitled to registry. At present he has about 90 head of cattle there.

Amos Van Etten gave testimony similar to that of Mr. Rider in regard to the conversation at Mr. Rider's store in October, but was not sure whether the sum of $16,500 had been mentioned by Mrs. Paynter, Mr. Stone or Mr. Rider, but when this sum was mentioned Mrs. Paynter had said: "Mr. Rider, you refused to pay more than $16,000," or words to that effect, to which Mr. Rider had replied: "I told you I had got $16,000, and you said you would let me know." After Judge John G. Van Etten's arrival, somebody had said "we" would make a tender to Mrs. Paynter of $16,500, and Mrs. Paynter said Mr. Stone would represent her; whatever he said or did would be agreeable to her. Judge Van Etten would be made the tender could not be found, then it would be made to Mr. Stone.

Schuyler C. Schultz testified that in June, 1919, Mrs. Paynter had a conversation with him in which she said she wanted to get all she could for the property. He asked whether she would take $15,000. He had first mentioned $14,000, then $15,000, then $15,500. She had said she would consider it, that she could get more. He told her he did not believe it was a bona fide offer or she would take it. She said she would let him know later, but he did not see her again.

Miss Mollie Schramme, formerly a clerk in the Rider store, testified that she remembered an occasion when Mrs. Paynter came to the store, and as Mr. Rider was showing her to the door he said: "I don't see why you don't give me a price on the store." Mrs. Paynter did not reply. Miss Schramme could not say the date.

Robert Hopper of Old Hurley, a piano tuner employed by Mr. Rider, recalled a visit of Mrs. Paynter at the store and of hearing Mrs. Paynter say: "Will you give more," to which Mr. Rider had said: "When you make up your mind, let me know."

Charles A. Winter, president and treasurer of E. Winter's Sons, testified Mrs. Paynter was in his store on John Street during the fore part of September, 1919, and as the delivery of the deed from Mrs. Paynter to him he had said $2,500 cash and given a purchase money mortgage for $13,000. On cross-examination by Mr. Brinnier, Mr. Winter said they also had paid the brokerage fees and other expenses, amounting to more than $400. The agreement was that Winter's Sons were to pay $16,500 for the property and all fees and expenses, which brought the total up to over $16,900. On deeding the property back to Mrs. Paynter, she gave them a mortgage for $2,500 for the cash they had paid her, which had been applied in part in satisfying a mortgage held by the savings bank. The property occupied by Winter's Sons has been occupied by his father and the present firm for 55 years, he said. Sometime ago the building was sold and he did not know how long they were looking there; consequently they were looking for a property of their own.

Winter's Sons, said Mr. Winter, had no agreement with Mrs. Paynter in case she should win this suit, to transfer the property to them. They had transferred the property back because they did not want to be mixed up in a law suit.

"Don't you think," said Mr. Brinnier, "that in honor, if she wins this suit, she will transfer it to you?"

"I think we stand as good a chance as anybody else," said Mr. Winter.

The case was continued this morning.

FACTORY WORK SLOWING UP

Six Percent Less Workers Employed in November Than October—$200,000 Less of them March To November in New York State.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, Dec. 14.—A decline in employment in New York state factories, which was the most widespread and of the greatest volume reported since the first evidence of a period of depression appeared last spring, occurred from October to November. The preliminary tabulation of 1,536 manufacturers' reports, received by the Bureau of Statistics of the New York State Industrial Commission, shows 6 per cent less factory workers employed in November than in October.

Reduced activity appears in nearly every branch of manufacturing in October, because of the slackening demand for products. Numerous plants report partial or complete shut-downs or part-time work. In a few industries the reductions are due to lessened seasonal activity, but these are intensified by the existing depression. The few increases reported in November are, in nearly every case, the result of seasonal gains in activity.

The number of employees reported in the factories of the state in November was 8 per cent less than a year ago, and about the same as in December, 1915. This seems to indicate that manufacturing activity is now rapidly returning to pre-war conditions. During the eight months from March to November the decrease in employment amounts to 14 per cent. From this it appears that there are at present at least 200,000 less workers employed in the factories of the state than there were in March, 1920.

The most conspicuous reductions in employment during November and the preceding months have occurred in the textile and clothing industries. The number of workers in the cotton goods industry in November was 38 per cent less than in October and nearly 50 per cent less than last March.

Many branches of the metal industries have now become affected by the depression. The automobile industry shows a 9 per cent drop in employment in November and a decrease of 47 per cent from the maximum reached last March.

Important decreases in employment during November were reported in a number of other industries. The industry group which includes the manufacture of brushes, buttons, combs, etc., shows a reduction of 18 per cent in November, due largely to curtailment of production in button factories. The decrease in these industries since last February amounts to 34 per cent. The miscellaneous wool products industries show a decrease of 9 per cent in employment from October to November, due chiefly to lessened activity in the production of pipes and brooms.

CHRISTMAS:—A time for giving and for getting and forgiving and forgetting.

A Christmas Tip to Men!

MANY MEN believe that women, at Christmas, want useless extravagances—unnatural things which they would never buy for themselves. . . . But it so happens that oftentimes these gifts, received with outward joy, cause inward tribulation.

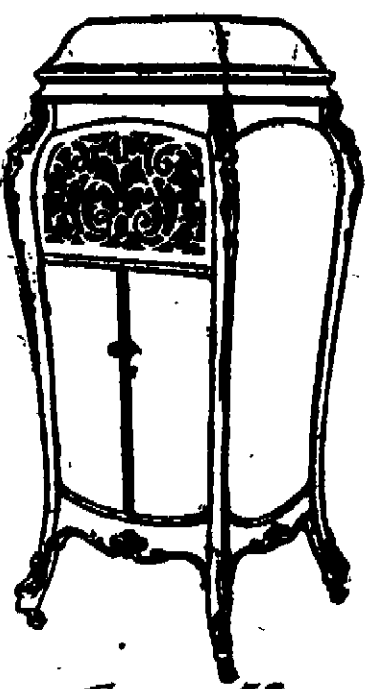

THEREFORE, let one who knows advise.

If you would be extravagant in your buying, also be practical. Whether it is for your wife, mother, daughter or sister, you may happily choose something to wear; a smart little frock, a big warm coat, a suit, a blouse or fur, that most regal of gifts—particularly fitting for the dearest girl.

And if you choose here, you will have the added satisfaction of knowing that whatever you select will be serviceable, as well as tasteful.

Saviour and King
On Wednesday evening, December 22, a community Christmas service will be held in the Cottehill Reformed Church, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Every person within the community served by this church, no matter what their Christian faith may be, whether young or old, great or small, is very cordially invited to attend this Christmas community service. We are going to have our old-fashioned singing of new and old Christmas hymns. Pastor Langwith has promised to be with us and give us a talk suitable for the occasion. Going to have a Christmas tree. There are a good many beautiful things up and trimmed. And a Santa Claus! To be sure we are. He is promised to be with a big lot of candy for all the young people attending the service and perhaps he will have time to give the children a short talk. After the singing and addresses, ice cream and cake will be served free to all present, after which a social hour will be spent. Games for the younger people, older ones, too, should they wish, and a real old-fashioned get-together social time. Let everyone attend this Community Christmas service. It is your service. It is a non-denominational service for friends and neighbors to spend each other's time hours and have a general good time social gathering. This service will be held unless the weather should be very bad, and in that case it will be held the same hour on Thursday evening, December 23.

AUXILIARY OF Y. M. C. A. MET

There was an excellent attendance at the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary meeting held at the association building last Friday afternoon. The devotional exercises were in charge of Mrs. Putnam Cady. Favorable reports from several committees were read. Chairmen for the rotary lunches for the next five weeks were announced as follows: December, 15th, Mrs. Howard Wilbur; December 22nd, Mrs. J. C. Snyder; December 29th, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden; January 5th, Mrs. Cora E. Drake; January 12th, Mrs. John Van Nostrand.

A nominating committee to report on the election of officers at the coming annual meeting was appointed as follows: Mrs. Putnam Cady, Mrs. Charles Lewis, Mrs. A. C. Gates, Mrs. William S. Eltinge.

It was announced that at the first meeting of the auxiliary in January, afternoon tea would be served, and a special welcome extended to the many new members who joined the auxiliary in the past year.

On account of the death of Mrs. Dillinger, the wife of the Y. M. C. A. physical director, the program as planned for the afternoon was suspended.

Secretary Safford, however, told the ladies of the increased business of the lunch room, thanks to their cooperation, and also of the increased membership in the Y. M. C. A. The senior membership is now 620, with a goal of 700, and the junior membership is 240 boys with a goal of 300. Also, the bowling alleys, the pool room and the gymnasium are increasingly popular.

STATIONERY

We have been in the stationery business longer than any other store in the city and have always carried the largest and most attractive line of papers. The manufacturers whose wares we handle have the largest and best equipped factories in the world and make the finest grades of paper to be purchased today. This year we have our customary line of exquisite holiday box papers with paper and envelopes of popular sizes and the daintiest of pastel colorings or white at very reasonable prices.

Stationery has been very expensive owing to lack of workmen at the mills and many people have necessarily allowed their stock to become quite depleted. Therefore a gift of stationery at this time would be most opportune.

GORHAM SILVERWARE

"Never look a gift horse in the mouth," is good old advice, but we all will do it nevertheless when it happens to be silverware. How natural it is to look for the trademark and what a feeling of satisfaction when the Gorham mark is found. A gift which may be used constantly and never wears out. On the morning of Christmas Day when the gifts are opened, and through the years that follow, the true spirit of friendship which prompted the selection is reflected both in the happy face of the favored one and in the fact that silver—whether it be a tea service, lustrous beauty of the silver gift. And thus a spoon, a pitcher, a cigarette case or whatever from the field of choice—has come to stand as the useful, enduring token of those tenderest thoughts which Christmas symbolizes.

Our prices are uniform with those of the Gorham Company.

BOOKS

To give a good book to a friend is to pay him lasting compliment. A fine quality of mental food is a sure means of getting more out of life.

Give books to your children this Christmas and let them select books for their friends from our Children's Book shelves. We have books for all the family. Literature for all minds, great or small. Complete sets of standard works in holiday editions, books of travel, fiction, religion, poems, etc. All the latest fiction by all the worthwhile writers. Real live books for real live boys and girls.

HAWKES' CUT GLASS

Real Cut Glass—One large piece of flawless crystal blocked in symmetrical design and polished by hand to a very high lustre. The appearance of this glass when new is not very different from the cheaper acid-finished cut-glass, but in a short time there is a vast difference. For all time, the Hawkes Cut Glass retains its brilliancy while the other so-called cut glass in a few weeks of use is nothing but a piece of ordinary, cheap glass with all lustre gone.

Just take a peep into our Cut Glass Corner. You will be refreshed and inspired by the brilliancy of the clear, scintillating rays.

Hawkes' trade mark on every piece. Each piece is a gem and would make a most pleasing gift.

TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN

Fortify Your System—Good Blood
Will Give You New Strength to Keep Well.

If you feel the least bit run down, not necessarily sick, but tired and blue and sort of down and out, it shows plainly that your power of resistance is low.

It is dangerous to go around that way. You don't want to do it. Make no mistake about it, when you feel yourself slipping into lazy habits, getting indifferent to the things you naturally like—no energy, no vigor, always tired—it is time to look out. It may not mean that you are sick or that you will be. But there are diseases that would have an easy time of it with your system when your blood has no fighting qualities.

You want to be well and keep well and feel strong. If you build up the quality of your blood by taking Pepto-Mangan you will be in trim to fight off winter ills. It has just the right ingredients to build your blood up with rich, red corpuscles.

Pepto-Mangan gives your blood the qualities it needs to pick you up and start you off on a healthy basis. You will notice the difference soon after you start taking it. You will have better color, better feeling, and more energy.

You can take it in liquid or tablet form as you prefer. Both have the same ingredients. But be sure you get the genuine Gude's Pepto-Mangan. Ask for it by that name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan," and be sure the full name is on the package.

State Canals Close.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York state's canal system was closed to traffic for the 1920 season Monday. This is the first time in the history of the state department the canals have remained open until the middle of December. The last boat reached Albany Monday. Boatmen during the last few days have found difficulty in the Mohawk region, where the ice was two inches thick. December 1 was set for the closing, but the mild weather permitted a postponement.

CURIOUS BREAK OF OPTICS

Remarkable Effects Possible With Spectacles That Are Cut With Various Openings.

Some very curious optical effects can be obtained with cardboard spectacles cut with various openings, writes S. Leonard Harris in the Scientific American.

The spectacles are easily made. Disks of cardboard are cut which measure about two inches in diameter. From copper wire a nose piece is bent and each end is twisted into a hole in the side of each disk. In the same way the bows for the ears are turned out of wire. One end of each of these is attached to the outer edge of a disk and the other end is bent round so that the curved part is going over the ear is formed.

The disks of the spectacles are then finished as follows: In one pair a hole is driven with a pin through the center of each disk. In another pair horizontal slits are cut almost from one side to the other of the disks. These should be narrow and they may be cut with a sharp chisel or penknife. In the third pair the slits in the same way that it is cut vertically.

By looking through the different openings some remarkable results are obtained. Thus the pair with the pinholes restricts the field of vision, but makes distant objects stand up with great clearness. It is possible to read print at three or four times the normal distance with the greatest ease. When wearing the spectacles with the horizontal slits it is only possible to see more or less horizontal lines in houses, fences, trees, etc., really plainly. Thus, while the trunk of a tree is difficult to detect, the horizontal branches are much sharper than is normally the case. Exactly the opposite is the case with the spectacles having the vertical openings. Here it is only the more or less upright lines that are really plain. The horizontal lines are very indistinct and if fine disappear altogether. Thus, while one can observe the posts supporting the clothes line it is not possible to see the line itself when wearing the spectacles with vertical slits.

Another Dream Shattered.

About the only colorful, exotic dream left the young man of today who wishes to wander, is the dream of the South sea islands where beautiful brown maidens bask in a tropical sun and dance sweetly in the moonlight on silver beaches, garbed in a red hibiscus flower and a grass skirt. And now come two young American travelers who say this is also a dream. James Norman Hall and Charles Nordhoff in Harper's declare: "The (Tahitian) women were barefooted and bareheaded, but otherwise conventionally dressed. This, we suppose, is a complete betrayal of a made more, if one may say the words of South sea natives belong to a tribe. These natives, however, in the islands have, of course, known the truth about them for years. It is still a popular misconception that the women are half savages, uncivilized creatures who display their charms to the general gaze with naive indifference. There are a few who by means of bribes may be persuaded to disrobe before the camera for a moment's space, and in this way the primitive legend is preserved to the world."

"Legion of the Lost Ones"

Every day at the Grand Central station there are scores which stir the passerby but to which the station attendants are hardened. It is all a part of the day's routine. A shuffling line of hand-cuffed men in charge of rather pompous cigar-smoking fellows are marched through the great station rounds. They are on their way "up the river"—to Sing Sing prison. And many will never see the brightly ringing metropolis again. Now and then there are old-timers, but each day there is a frightened youth who is paying his first debt to a pitiless state. Relatives are not permitted to tell them good-bye, but frequently a lawyer is on hand to give the perfunctory word of hope. I saw one boy, underfed and sallow. He came into the station blinking like a frightened rabbit. As he waited to go through the gate he looked back over his shoulder and some one waved to him from a balcony. He gave a spasmodic gulp and then seemed to shrink like one struck.—New York Correspondent of the Indianapolis Star.

World's Aviation Flight.
Aeronautic authorities have been engaged in formulating a fair set of rules governing the coming round-the-world flight. That aviators will not be permitted to take advantage of the round-trip of the earth is indicated by the condition that they must make their flights between the fifteenth and sixteenth parallels of latitude, and the prize will go to the flyer who covers the longest distance. Aviators will be allowed to start from any point they choose, provided they return to the starting point. They will have a year in which to complete their flight. Airplanes, dirigibles, and free balloons are eligible for the race.—Scientific American.

Trade Opportunities in China.
According to a recent traveler to China, if that country had 100,000 miles of railroad and a similar length of good roads there would be opened up a vast empire of rich resources for settlement and development. The Chinese people greatly prefer to extend their own developments and relieve their congested cities by settling their own country than by obtaining opportunities abroad.

FRIEND OR CURSE?

Both Designations Have Been Bestowed on Sleep.

Truth is That the Hours of Slumber Can Be Made Subservient to the Free Will.

Sleep, at the right time, is one of man's foremost friends and benefactors; at the wrong time it is a curse. For it comes as the paralyzing incubus upon his head and his mind when he should be broad awake and at his work. declares a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger.

It is a strange thing to think about, that if we average eight hours of every twenty-four in slumber, we are in the Land of Nod for a third of our whole term on earth. At this rate the man who lives to the age of 90 has spent twenty years in bed.

It has made some active spirits irate against nature and the established order that they should have to spend so much time unconscious and unproductive; the idleness has tried them; and burning the candle at both ends in their defiance of physiological laws they have generally paid for it. The rule is that we rest not that we may form habits of sloth and self-indulgence, but that we may find recreation and recuperation for the day that follows night—the day that tests our mettle, and urges to endeavor. Sleep is supposed to send us back into the fray clear eyed, serene, corroborated. "I climb when I lie down," said that poet of the mystics, Henry Vaughan, and by it he meant that his finite mortality had risen star by star till it laid hold upon infinity. The apparent humility was an aspiration. He stood at heaven's gate not by the pride of life, not by self-assertion, not by being egocentric, but in the mortification of vanity and with all "changeling and subduing of the soul."

Mark Twain and Robert Louis Stevenson were two of no small number of writers who wrote in bed because of the comfortable relaxation and the seclusion. The wits of neither were benumbed, and you could not call either of these prolific and successful authors lazy. But it does not follow that their mimic in respect to a recumbent posture for authorship will succeed in copying their happy graces in the way of a literary style.

The strong man seeks a workroom, not a resting place. He stays at work till his work is done. He trains himself—with an Edison—not to let himself sleep till he has tracked the shy idea he is hunting to its lair. Men who have followed an engineering career afield—men who have fought a war—men who have sailed a ship

Boy Gave World Lamp Chimney.

The lamp chimney of today was given to the world through the subtle insinuation of a small boy. The first lamp using an air chamber was invented by a Swiss, Jules Argand. A which was introduced into a hollow tube and the tube inset into the lamp. As this allowed oxygen to enter the base a much brighter flame was given than by any lamp then in use. Jules had a small brother and as small boys of that day were very like the small boys of today, Jules was instructed to watch him, and especially to look out for fire and little fingers.

Jules remembered his instruction on a few minutes and then began to busy that his little brother quit snoring from his snore. He was leaning over a bench, straining his eyes to see some half defects in his work. Suddenly the room became much brighter. Jules turned and discovered the boy with a bottomless oil flask which he had lowered over the wick of the lamp. The flame had leaped to the long circular neck of the flask with greatly increased brilliancy. At once Jules saw the possibilities before him and the modern lamp chimney was born.

Considerably Minded.

We bought him for $5 from a little boy, thinking he was a full-blooded brown bull pup. Like many things, he hasn't turned out so well as he appeared. All the "cuddly" quality and clever puppy ways that would induce him to lick him, and show a very fond of him.

One day he was telling an aunt one of the cute things that the little dog had done. Auntie wasn't sympathetic; she touched on a tender spot.

"What kind of a dog is he, Ellen, with the cold?"

"Well, auntie—I think he's fairly well dog—and—and—the rest puppy." Was the little champion's reply.—Chicago Tribune.

South Valley Temperatures.

At Greatwood ranch, in South valley, California, the air temperature, as recorded by a total maximum thermometer exposed to a standard thermometer shelter, rose to 100 degrees or higher on 25 days during June, and on every day during July, 1933, says a bulletin of the American Meteorological society. The extreme maximum was 125 degrees, recorded on the last day of July. On July 10, 1933, the temperature there reached 134 degrees Fahrenheit, the highest officially recorded air temperature in the world.

HOW

WORLD-FAMOUS TOLEDO SWORDS ARE PERFECTED.—In the famous sword factory at Toledo, in Spain, absolute secrecy surrounds some of the processes employed in the making of these celebrated blades, although under certain conditions visitors are allowed to go through the factory. No one, however, is permitted to look upon the final secrets of tempering.

In the first room there may be seen a curious large round shield fastened against the wall, where the last test of a finished sword is made. It is thrown against this target as an arrow is thrown from a bow; if its point is perfect, well and good; if it does not turn a fraction of the finest hair's breadth, if the blade makes an escape from this trial, and it usually does it is worthy to be marked with the royal sign and the word "Artilleria," that proves that it was made in Toledo. If the point wavers, even in a manner imperceptible to the unpracticed eye, the blade must go back to a remelting of its fiery disposition.

At one table a man, working by aid of a wax and a sharp-pointed needle-like instrument is busily engaged in the tempering of a blade. At another table is an artisan pounding with a clay shaped-edged sort of hammer, working out a handle pattern. There are several hundred employees in this sword factory, and a great many of them are boys under twenty, but the most trusted workers are not often young.

Don't attempt to change a tire from a flat with which you are unfamiliar. Serious accidents have occurred because of improper handling, resulting in their being off when the tire has been inflated.

The submachine gun, a remarkable rifle invented by Brigadier-General John T. Thompson, U.S.A., retired, was successfully demonstrated at Deal, N. J., recently. The wonderful new weapon fired fifty shots in less than two seconds, the greatest rapidity of fire ever attained by any gun in the world. General Thompson, inventor of the gun, was director of armaments in charge of the production of small arms for the U.S. army during the war. The rifle, which fires a .45 calibre bullet, has been adopted for riot duty by police and constabulary forces throughout the country. The illustration shows the new gun and its inventor, Brigadier-General John T. Thompson.

Sentimental Notes.

Fondness for government machinery gave way to sentiment when Maj. Gen. John A. LeFlore, commandant of the marine corps, authorized the re-enactment in Los Angeles of the Armistice ceremony which took place in 1918. The purpose of having the ceremony on the United States steamship Chittenden, now at Constantinople, is to order that they might locate their relatives in the Near East.

Each of these young men speak Armenian, Greek, Arabic, Persian, French and English, and understand Russian. They will leave Philadelphia this month, via the United States steamship St. Louis, for Turkish waters.

Philippine Coal.

Signs of industrial expansion in the Philippine Islands are seen in the recent formation of a company which is developing the Cebu coal mines as well as those in Mindanao. It is reported that within a comparatively short time the output of these two islands will be sufficient to supply the needs of the whole archipelago and to export surplus coal. The Mindanao product, which comes from what is known as the Sulu group coal field, is known as the one best in the region for use in other Philippine coal or gas mines, and the Sulu field is while on the other hand it is said to be able to generate if not used properly.

KISSERS, TOO, WOULD BE BLUE

Reformers of Morals to Ask Congress to Create Court to Keep Vampire Osculation Out of Movies.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Dec. 14.—The Rev. William Frost Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, and leading "blue law" advocate, announced today that congress will be urged to create a "supreme court of morals" whose chief works would consist of regulating kisses in the movies.

As described by Dr. Crafts the court would devote most of its activities to determining between "good" and "bad" kisses, and would also consider all the vampire kisses of the screen. The court would also have the power to issue orders to the industry to remove any "bad" kisses from the screen.

"I would be impracticable for France to do so until Germany falls," said M. Bourgeois, representing France, notified the league of nations that France could not comply with the disarmament committee's recommendations that nations should not exceed their present armament budgets.

The disarmament report pointed out further difficulties. It is said that as the United States lacks laws to prevent private concerns from exporting arms, other countries would refuse to sign such an agreement because it would result in all other business going to the United States.

Viscount Ishii, of the Japanese delegation, had previously warned the league that Japan would not reduce her armaments so long as the United States continued to increase her land and sea forces.

Well, anyway the Rev. Dr. Crafts is said to be of nervous temperament and finally he said in an irritated tone:

"Now I don't want to be interviewed on this subject any longer. I shouldn't be interviewed at all."

After the reporter had blithely confessed she had thought all kisses perfectly lovely and described how horrible it would be if some day she should meet an infamous one and not know it, and appealed for enlightenment on a subject so vital, the Rev. Dr. Crafts' heart softened. He remained firm in his stand against illustration, but finally yielded to entreaties to describe an infamous kiss.

"An infamous kiss is one given in false love."

The world cannot be made safe for democracy or anything until the movies are demoralized, Dr. Crafts said.

PHOENICIA WON TWO
And Lost One Game of Basketball Last Week.

The Phenicia Basketball team won two and lost one game during the past week. On Wednesday night the team journeyed to Downsville and was defeated by the score of 25 to 17. The game was fast and clean throughout. The score at the end of the first half was 9 to 5.

On Friday night Phenicia defeated the Saugerties team by the score of 51 to 17. Saugerties put up the poorest game seen here this season. They were undoubtedly handicapped by the absence of three of their regular players who did not show up for some reason.

On Saturday night Phenicia defeated Fleischmann by the score of 37 to 12 at Shandegton Hall, Alton. Fleischmann was completely outclassed and seemed lost on the larger court.

Phenicia plays the Kingston Tigers at Phenicia next Friday.

DISARMAMENT PLAN UNWORKABLE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Geneva, Dec. 14.—World disarmament struck more snags today.

Leon Bourgeois, representing France, notified the league of nations that France could not comply with the disarmament committee's recommendations that nations should not exceed their present armament budgets.

DISAPPOINTED CHILDREN.
No Christmas Tree At Industrial Home—Send Gifts Anyway.

Because there is sickness amongst the children at the Industrial Home it will be impossible to have a Christmas tree this year. Every child in Kingston, every grown-up who has kept his or her child heart will know all the disappointment that will bring to the little folks at the Home this Christmas.

But, such being the case, why not make it up to the children by the gifts that everyone can help Santa Claus to leave at the Industrial Home? Clothing for the boys and girls; all sorts of good things to eat, and not just for Christmas Day, but that will last for some time to come; candy and fruit; and, since it is Christmas, lots of else, toys and books, and lots of them, for there are thirty boys and girls to be made happy on Christmas morning. Their ages range from three years to thirteen, with the majority of the children about nine to eleven years old.

At First Reformed Church.
In special recognition of Christmas there will be a musical service at the First Reformed Church on Sunday afternoon, December 26th at 4 o'clock. At this service the regular choir of the church, assisted by the Maude quartet, under the direction of W. Whiting Frederburch, organist and choirmaster, will sing the beautiful Christmas cantata, "The Story of Bethlehem" by William R. Spence. On this Sunday Rev. Walter Steiner, chaplain in the U. S. Navy, will preach and have charge of the services.

Stone Ridge Cantata.
A children's cantata will be given at the Stone Ridge Grange Hall Wednesday evening, December 22. This is the first cantata to be given by Stone Ridge talent. There will also be a community Christmas tree. The title of the cantata is "The Holy Night."

Garden Photo Exhibit Postponed.
The exhibition of photos of the gardens of the members of the Garden Club which was to have been held on the fifteenth of this month has been postponed until after the holidays.

THE MILKMAN'S
XMAS GREETING

HEALTHY NEW YEAR

THE TUBERCULOSIS CHRISTMAS SEAL.

Last Christmas morning the majority of families in this city had a right pleasant surprise in a Christmas greeting, early in the morning, from their milk dealer, for on the cap of their milk bottles appeared one of the bright, cheery, helpful Christmas seals. It was indeed a happy thought, suggested to the milk dealers by Mrs. Thompson, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, who has the city seal sale in charge. She is arranging with the milk dealers to do the same thing this year, and will a little later announce the list of those milkmen who will be the first to extend the Christmas greeting on the morning of December 25th, 1920.

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE.

Bible Society's Needs Are Urgent, Says Secretary.

The Ulster County Bible Society sincerely hopes that the people of the county who are interested in Bible distribution will kindly remember the society and its needs, at the coming Christmas time. Our needs are urgent, and what better Christmas gift can be made, than a copy of the Bible? Our aim is not only to supply the destitute families throughout the city of Kingston and the county, but also to supply every inmate of the Old Ladies' Home, the City Almshouse and the hospital. If you have not a copy to donate, will you kindly send a contribution for this purpose, to A. D. Rose, treasurer, Kingston, N. Y.

We do not know that the Saviour of the world ever bought a Christmas gift, yet He is known in history as the world's greatest giver. He never bestowed upon mankind, as far as we know, a single material gift. He carved no statue, painted no picture, wrote no poem, composed no song, founded no city, erected no triumphal arch; so poor was he, that He was laid in a borrowed cradle when born, rode on a borrowed beast, ate the passover in a borrowed room, and was buried in a borrowed tomb. His first companions were dumb animals. His last while on the cross were thieves. His first bed was a manger, and His last crown, a crown of thorns. He knew what it meant to be hungry, thirsty and homeless. The foxes of the field and the birds of the air had homes, but he had nowhere to lay His head. 'What was the secret of His giving?' He gave Himself for you and the whole world. The greatest names in history have been men of like character and life. Carey the great missionary was a poor shoemaker, but he gave the best he had, he gave himself, and the result is, India is being won for Christ. Abraham Lincoln a poor boy and a poor man, gave what he could, and now he is called the Saviour of the nation.

The conversation of Jesus with Martha and Mary in their home at Bethany shows what great worth He places on the spiritual gifts of life. In preparing our Christmas gifts let us give some of the things which He gave. Along with our gifts of price, let us give some that are priceless, the word of God. May we find ourselves yearning for the welfare of others. Let us give thought to some one who needs it, sympathy to one who craves it, kindness to the one whom the world has overlooked, and affection to one who is starving for it, for our gifts do not consist in the abundance of the things which we receive or give, but in the spirit of good-will which fills our hearts. We cannot measure Christmas with money, nor our gifts by the amount we send, for the gifts we want are broken, but the word of God abides forever, and the love and prayers that go with it have no end.

H. SMITH, Secretary.

MILTON.

Milton, Dec. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clarke left last week, Monday, for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will spend the winter.

The work of tearing down the stone walls and blasting out the rocks in St. James park has begun.

At a meeting of the Men's Club held recently in the Community House the committee appointed to investigate regarding the Milton and Reed Co. ferry question reported that the federal and state authorities had no objection. William H. Townsend, Jr., on whose property the Milton entrance of the ferry will be built, consented to the proposition. It is to be hoped that this proposition will be carried out this village and Rudco will be a great convenience.

A meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church was held at the home of Mrs. William H. Townsend, Jr., last Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. William H. Townsend, Jr., secretary, gave a very interesting report of the Presbyterian meeting in Newburgh October 27. There was also a very interesting letter read from Mrs. Walter J. Clarke, a missionary to Lahore, India.

The house committee of the Males and Matrons Society met at the home of Mrs. G. C. Ferguson on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. A. J. Koons of Highland visited at the River View Bungalow last week. Mrs. Koons, who formerly resided in this village has sold her property here, recently occupied by Joseph Dora, to Ed. and Bernice who has taken possession of same.

Since the death of his father, Joseph Dora, Charles Dora has been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bokroski.

Mrs. Edgar Rikely of New York city and daughters, Miss Louise Rikely and Mrs. Young of New York city, are visiting at the Village View House with J. R. Rikely, their grandfather.

Luther Cavely has come to Marlborough where he will reside at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. M. Cavely. Mr. Cavely is a brother of Mrs. Louise Rikely, who died very suddenly last week, Friday.

The annual Christmas supper of the Presbyterian Sunday school will be held in the church on Saturday, December 25.

A kindergarten has been installed in the Males and Matrons Club room.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE TOWN

It Was a Lucky Thing for King Solomon's Reputation for Wisdom That They Did Not Celebrate Christmas in Those Days, the Stroller Hears.

"What are you looking so puzzled about?" asked the customer, as he dropped in the barber shop for a chat this morning, and found the busy barber wearing a concentrated look of thoughtfulness, as they say of the heroes in the best selling detective stories.

"I am puzzled," acknowledged the barber, "for here it is only a few more days from Christmas and I have not got friend wife her present yet."

"Pooh, is that all that is bothering you?" retorted the customer, "why that is the simplest problem in the world to solve."

"Sure," retorted the barber, sarcastically, "but you say that from the profound depths of your state of singleness, but let me tell you if they had celebrated Christmas in the days of King Solomon I'm afraid his wisdom would not have extolled Solomon's wisdom so highly."

"How's that?" asked the customer.

"Think of his having to buy a Christmas gift for all those wives," shuddered the barber, "when any average married man knows what a devil of a job it is to buy an acceptable gift for just the one better half."

"It seems to me you are making a rock pile out of a pebble," said the customer.

"That's because you have not stepped off yet," replied the barber, "and when that gala occasion arrives you will find yourself saying with the Higginville poet: 'Christmas giving and Christmas cheer, thank heavens it comes but once a year, for the hardest hardship in married life, is picking a pleasing gift for the wife.'"

"Well, if you say so it must be so," said the customer, "but still it seems queer to me that I never have difficulty in picking out a Christmas gift for a certain fair damsel."

"Of course not," retorted the barber, "but as soon as she looks you with the wedding ring, why then your Christmas troubles will begin."

"I believe you are raving," replied the customer, growing slightly peeved.

"Never mind," cheered the barber, "you'll be in the same condition a few years hence, and then perhaps you will remember that I told you so."

THE STROLLER.

No Fun There.

Mary was frankly bored. She twisted this way and that until even the minister was conscious of the wriggling blue bow. She climbed up on the seat and made faces—horrible goblin faces—at the sedate little person in the next pew; but the sedate little person, remembering the occasion, made no answering grimace.

Mary's innings were yet to come. In the midst of the long, solemn prayer her shrill little voice was raised in urgent protest.

"Aw, come on, let's go home. This isn't no fun!"

And Mary went.

Absent.

It was the opening day of school, and the first grade teacher was asking each child his name.

"And your name?" she inquired of a little boy.

"Dobby."

"And your father's name?"

"Just father."

"Yes, I know, but what does your mother call him?" she asked, hoping in this manner to get Dobby's father's full name.

"She calls him 'father too,'" was the answer.

"What did your grandmother call him when he was a little boy?" she asked in final desperation. The little boy looked up into her face, and said:

"I don't know. He wasn't living with us then."—Indianapolis News.

Coal Scales Off Weight.

In a recent inspection of coal dealers' scales in a number of cities up state, four violations were. A number of complaints of alleged short weight had been made to the division of food and markets. The inspections were made under the direction of the bureau of weights and measures. In one city the inspectors were taken for prohibition agents, and a railroad employee is alleged to have telephoned the saloons, resulting in their putting on the "lid."

The violations were found in Albany, Utica and Jamestown.

NEW "SILENT COPS"

Will Reach Town—New Signs in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Wiltwyck cemetery has recently had new signs erected on the streets and avenues. An association having purchased 212 new signs through the Universal Road Machinery Company of this city.

The signs recently purchased by the city from the Universal Road Machinery Company have arrived, but will probably not be put into position until spring. The signs will replace the present "no parking" signs on the street, which were so worded as to mislead many people. Included in the order are new "silent cops," having a sixty pound base and standing eight feet high. They will replace the small light weight "cops" now on the force.

MARLBOROUGH ROBBERY.

Sanford Baxter's Shoe Store Looted Early Sunday Morning.

The shoe store of Sanford Baxter at Marlborough was entered early Sunday morning and about $500 worth of footwear taken away in an auto truck. The burglars also broke in the plumbing shop of Elmer Weygant, but took nothing.

The burglars created no disturbance. The doors of the Baxter and Weygant stores were jimmied open. State police and the sheriff's office were notified when the robbery was discovered, and the vicinity was secured, but the robbers succeeded in making their escape. Tracks from the tire marks indicated that the men went in the direction of Newburgh.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Dec. 13.—The fair held under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Church was a success in every detail. Much courage was needed on Wednesday, the first day of the fair, to enable the various committees to proceed with their preparations in face of the heavy storm which prevailed during the day and far into the evening, but, despite the rain a good crowd assembled and enjoyed the fine chicken supper and also the entertainment which followed. There was also a good attendance Thursday evening and the sum of nearly $235 was the result. A profit from a "Larkin Order" will be added to this amount later. The president and committees wish to thank all who in any way assisted in making the affair successful.

Paul Beaver has purchased a Ford sedan car of our local agent, Percy M. Mott.

Mrs. Elsie Manning of Brooklyn recently came to Esopus and visited Ascension cemetery for the purpose of inspecting a fine monument which has been placed upon the plot of her mother, the late Mrs. Charles Manning. While here she called upon Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Mott.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sheeley of Newburgh were in Esopus on Friday last to attend the funeral service of their little niece, Catherine Sheeley.

Ulster Lunch Most Popular

No commercial enterprise has met with the success in this city as has the Ulster Lunch, a restaurant opened a few months ago and conducted in connection with the Hotel Ulster, being located on Railroad avenue, just around the corner from Broadway. Its location near the Union Station makes it an ideal place to dine for travelers on the Ulster and Delaware, the West Shore and Watkill Valley railroads, who are in a hurry to catch a train, as promptness of service is the rule of the restaurant. "Satisfy the stomach and you satisfy the patron," with the addition "keep the charges reasonable" has been the motto of the management, which has been adhered to with the result that the business has grown beyond the fondest expectations. Having knowledge of the excellence of the cuisine, the home-cooking and absence of profiteering, patrons come from all parts of the city as well as from surrounding towns. Not only is there a counter service but a table service, without tedious delay so often met with by restaurant patrons elsewhere, while the portions served are always ample and satisfactory. A feature of the Ulster Lunch is the serving of buckwheat cakes and sausage daily, from 6 to 10 a. m., and from 5 to 8 p. m., the buckwheat from which the flour is made being ground from buckwheat grown on Mr. Cook's Hickory Farm at Ruby, while the young porkers from which the sausage meat is made are also raised on the same farm. Then, too, the milk, cream, butter and buttermilk which patrons find so delicious all comes from the Hickory Dairy Farm. Mr. Cook being owner of as fine a herd of choice Holsteins as can be found in this section of the state. The pastry, pies and biscuits, rolls and cake are all home-made. From early morning until late in the evening expert short order cooks are on duty, a specialty being made in the serving of chops, roasts, broils and steaks with promptness and cooked to a nicety.

Muscle Increases Output.
Transplanting rice in the Philippines costs about 40 centavos a day, with two meals, cigarettes and betel nut, but when muscle is provided the output of work is increased 30 per cent, says the New York Medical Journal. It is often a blind man who plays. He sits on the low dyke and sings the old folk songs to his guitar, and frequently the workers join in the chorus. Some of the large steers in the States also tried the effect of music with good results.
